offering at the foot.

The doors on the east side of the structure were then opened and the thousands that had been patiently waiting commenced to pass in. The remains will lie in state until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mourned by Ireland.

LONDON, Oct. 31.-The representative of the United Press today had an interview with Mr. Michael Davitt, the well known Irish leader, on the subject of the assassination of Mayor Carter Harrison. Mr. Davitt said that he knew Mr. Harrison intimately. He was an uncompromising friend of the Irish cause. His tragic end. Mr. Davitt added, would be deeply mourned by Irish-Americans.

In speaking of Mr. Harrison's abilities, Mr. Davitt said that he was the greatest administrator of citizens' affairs who had ever presided over the municipal council of Chicago. Among other things he had suc-ceeded in enormously increasing the financial credit of the city.

According to Mr. Davitt, Mr. Harrison might possibly have been, had he lived, a candidate for the presidency of the United Repeal.

GERMAN BANKER COMMENTS.

LONDON PRESS COMMENT. Views of the Afternoon Papers on Repeal.

LONDON, Oct. 31.-All the leading afternoon newspapers comment at length upon the passage by the American Senate of the bill stopping the purchase of silver. The St. James Gazette says: "No country but the United States could have endured the waste entailed by the Sherman act for a quarter of the time. The old world states, compelled to maintain great armaments and costly administrative machinery, would have been speedily bankrupted. Nothing in the history of aristocratic corruption ever surpassed the cynical impudence of this silver legislation. The same impudence has been displayed to t world states, compelled to maintain great last campaign, and never should have been last by the Senate, which excelled the worst obstruction ever attributed to the British house of lords by its most bitter enemies." The Globe says: "It cannot be doubted that it was President Cleveland's display of unquenchable courage that finally secured the victory. Far-sighted as he has shown himself to be on the silver question, he canrebelled, be imposed on them longer. The true policy is to work now and thereby hasten tariff reform and shorten the long session of Congress. If we dilly-dally with the tariff question through next spring, through dog days and into the fall before we get it on the statute books and go to the country before the people have time to understand its provisions, we may have cause to regret it later on.

'In every sense, I think work now is proper, as I said before, both from a party and from a patriotic standpoint. I do not think from a party standpoint that it is wise to postpone tariff action and disperse with our divisions exposed and no united action drawing us or the people together ments that was ever launched."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The American currency problem is by no means solved, but a huge barrier in the path of its solution has been removed. We have cause to rejoice, but our rejoicing should be tempered, since the United States, in order to find a proper basis for currency to replenish its depleted treasury, may look to us for gold. Nevertheless, there is one American economic heresy the less. When may we expect a reform of the tariff?"

A Berlin Hanker's Optimies with our divisions exposed and no united action drawing us or the people together again. He said that there was a great deal cause the Sherman act had brought the of work to be done and in his judgment the best policy, and that which would meet United States to the brink of bankruptcy, with the approval of the people, would be for Congress to dispose of the work which is now demanding attention. In the House, he said, the bankruptcy bill, but as a German-European financier I should have wished that a transition state should have been adopted in order to save Germany from a dangerous outflow of gold, which the German or English banks only will be able to counteract by raising their rates of discount. Judge Sayers, chairman of the committee Herr Koch expressed the greatest admiration for President Cleveland, whose mes-sages to Congress, he said, had greatly impressed him. Mr. Cleveland, he added, was not only a great party leader, but a great statesman.

Judge Sayers, chairman of the committee on appropriations, said he hardly knew what would be the best policy, but that he was inclined to think that if Congress could take a twenty-day recess it would be about the best thing to do after the Voorhees bill was disposed of. Representative Blanchard said that there was a great deal of work which the people expected this Congress to do, and much of it could be done now as well as at any time. He saw no reason why Congress should either adjourn or take a recess. The work THE METROPOLITAN CHARTER. Company's Demurrer in

It is also understood that should the court decide that the effect of the act of March 3, 1891, was to repeal the charter of the company, and, in fact, did repeal the charter, and that no judicial declaration of the repeal was needed, the government might take an altogether different step by going into the Equity Court and praying that into the Equity Court and praying that the company be enjoined from carrying on its business. In taking such a step the government would, however, be compelled to satisfy the court that the company's charter having been repealed it possessed no legal authority to continue its business.

At noon today the assessor's books showed that 475 applications for retail liquor licenses had been received, the receipts from which amounted to $190,000. Last year the entire number of retail licenses issued was but 638 and the amount received from the same in the way of fees amounted to $89, 307.47. The books also showed at noon that 140 applications for wholesale liquor licenses had been received, the fees from which amounted to $35,000. Last year 462 wholesale liquor licenses were granted and the total fees from this class of licenses amounted to but $15,579.91. The assessor believes that the greatest falling off by virtue of the workings of the new law will be in the wholesale applications, and that but few of those who sell by retail will fail to make application under the new law.

All day long the license clerks were kept busy receiving applications. License Clerk Williams looked out from behind a pile of applications long enough to say to a reporter of The Star that the applications expectations.

GENERAL MARKET REPORTS.

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star. NEW YORK, Oct. 31.-A concerted bear attack at the beginning of today's session had a very depressing effect on prices and momentarily demoralized speculation. There was no news to warrant the attack, but prices yielded easily to the hammering and encouraged repeated renewals throughout the day. Sugar led the decline by opening off 2 1-2 per cent from last night's closing and continuing downward until the discrepancy reached 6 per cent, or a net decline from the opening of 3 1-2 per cent. The remainder of the list responded sympathetically and at noon recorded concessions varying from 1 to 3 per cent. London was fractionally lower in its market for international securities and contributed to the general weakness here. A large short interest is said to exist in that center and must soon result in a general covering movement. All active stocks were lending at a premium today, indicating the presence of an enormous short interest at home that will eventually result in another bear panic and the attendant higher prices.

The Bank of England reduced the price of American eagles to 76s. 9d., which will invite further withdrawals for our account.

This action is attributed to a desire on the part of the board of governors to protect their own sovereigns. The present condi-tion of the exchange market is not favor-able to any considerable importation of gold, but it is certain that some shipments will be made in the near future. The bal-ance of trade will soon be in our favor, and, with the repeal bill out of the way, the present decline should not run far without attracting considerable buying both for speculative and investment account. Outside of the small circle of professional pessimists the belief in a continuation of the upward movement prevails.

In the regular list Western Union was weak at a decline of 3 1-8 per cent to 88. Missouri Pacific declined 2 3-8 per cent to 25; Manhattan sold down 2 per cent to 131; Reading declined 2 3-8 to 19 7-8, and Burlington and Nashville each lost 1 1-2 per cent to 83 1-2 and 49 1-2, respectively. Chicago Gas was very active at a loss of 4 1-2 per cent to 63 3-4 and Distillers lost 2 per cent to 13 1-4. upward movement prevails.

The room regards today's set back as the natural consequence of the rise resulting from the probabilities of repeal and which was discounted before absolutely assured.

The interests which inaugurated the rise and the interests which took the initiative in the decline are identical and in both instances were aided by traders in the room. London sold upward of 20,000 shares, fearing an active money market as the result of an active money market as the result of withdrawals for foreign account and the uncertainty of Indian affairs.
